INTRODUCTION

THE tremendous interest taken of late in names and numbers may be described as phenomenal.

This widely spreading interest may be ascribed to the fact that the present civilization is very desirous of learning of self, and reaches out eagerly for any subject that can help in human deduction, and the simplicity of this method of self-analysis naturally attracts to itself an ever increasing and enthusiastic following.

While it is true the large majority of people are really seeking for a solution regarding life, with a desire to obey that God-given command: "Man, know Thyself": there also exists a certain class of individuals who use this and other subjects of self-analysis simply as a means of entertainment.

I wish this volume to be accepted as representing one channel of human analysis: also as a source of entertainment as well as instruction, for what can be more interesting and fascinating than an unbiased analysis of self?

The study of Names and Numbers opens up a new and large field in the hidden world of self-analysis, gives to us many facts pertaining to our individuality, and also a reason for apparent success or failure that heretofore were impossible to be obtained.

THE AUTHOR

NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

CHAPTER I

THE LAW OF NUMBERS

NOTHING in this Universe of sorrows and joys is more intensely interesting or fascinating than that collection of atoms attuned to move at a human vibration, this vibration being commonly called "Self."

This self is a persevering and consistent seeker: a seeker many times for recognition, for flattery and for praise, but, in reality, a seeker for real knowledge that it may better probe and learn of that mysterious entity, termed "Self," and the true position of this "self" amongst these unexplainable laws of nature, which are commonly called "Life's riddles."

In answer to humanity's call for an explanation of the laws everywhere about, and for an explanation of self, nature and man have responded with the subjects of astrology, palmistry, psychometry, etc., etc., and man has decided, after much investigation, that all these subjects serve a purpose, and, in their way, are beneficial and useful, because they reveal much that is instructive and helpful.

But, for simplicity and usefulness, the subject Names and Numbers is destined to fill a bigger want and to cover a larger field in the education of man, than any other system of human analysis.

Names and Numbers are divided into two great principles or divisions, — the first division being the meaning of the individual numbers, and the second — their practical application to names.

The first lesson then to be mastered consists of a thorough understanding of what the several numbers mean: what influence they possess: and their latent and objective powers.

CHAPTER II

THE CHARACTER AND INFLUENCE OF NUMBERS ONE, TWO AND THREE

The Character and Influence of Number One. — This is a strong, forceful, active, creative and masculine number.

It represents individuality, strength and boldness.

It is a petulant, self-centered number and seldom recognizes anything beyond its own, often very limited, vision.

The characteristic One individual, analyzes everything by his standard of life and refuses to accept anything his five senses cannot include or understand: nor can it be said "hiding his light under a bushel" is one of his characteristic failings.

It is a number of ruling, directing, inventing and planning, and is powerful in a limited or localized way: it radiates the do-and-dare spirit, and is often officious and dominating, refusing to recognize or consider any difficulties, obstacles or barriers, and rides right over anything coming in its way.

It is a number of explanation, and not execution. “One” was the foundation-stone of creation and retains much of its original austerity and rulership.

The Character and Influence of Number Two. — As Number one is a masculine influence, so is Number Two its polar opposite, being a distinctly feminine and receptive number.

It is a kind, diplomatic and peace-loving number: while two is far from being a real power, in its influence, yet it differs from Number One in that its strength is more subjective than objective: its influence is refined, gentle and helpful. Number Two is supposed to be the ideal number for Mothers, for Doctors, Dentists, Nurses, Diplomats, etc.

NUMBERS ONE, TWO AND THREE ,

It is a number or vibration of temperament and individuality and more a number of the heart than of the mind.

Charm, endearment, affection, attachment are words that partly describe the Number Two influence, and it bestows composure, calm, and aids companionship and all friendly associations.

Character and Influence of Number Three. — This is a number of expression, declamation and enunciation.

It influences oratory, acting, singing, writing, dancing and painting.

Its principal characteristics are mirth, good cheer, merriment, pleasure and jollity: also joy, gladness, pleasure, ecstasy and inspiration are predominating expressions. As Number Two represents the peace-loving number, so may Number Three be said to be the joy-giving number.

CHAPTER III

CHARACTER AND INFLUENCE OF NUMBERS FOUR, FIVE AND SIX

Character and Influence of Number Four. — This number bestows a creative and tenacious influence on its bearer.

It is a heavy, physical number, crude and limited, and a number given to analysis and discussion.

It is a good vibration in many ways on which to undertake a venture, as it is strong, heavy and hard to turn from its course.

The old saying: “On four squares the city stands,” holds much of truth. In its undeveloped state it is a pugnacious, unrefined, drastic and physical enduring number, and curbs and restrains all things not physical or scientific, and seldom soars above the physical or earth vibrations.

It is a number of accumulation, collection

NUMBERS FOUR, FIVE AND SIX 7

and material concentration and loves to possess for possession's sake.

Character and Influence of Number Five.—

The influence of this number tends towards excitement, nervousness and tempestuousness.

The Number Five characterizes a vibration that is somewhat different from the ordinary — in that it is double-sided. People coming under the vibration may be compared to a man sitting upon a fence leaning first one way and then another, never certain in which direction his best interests lie.

It may be compared in many ways to the Gemini sign of astrology, that is, it is two-sided in nature — being constructive and destructive, optimistic and pessimistic, cheerful and melancholy.

It is supposed to be unlucky, but this is probably due to the fact that it is not a religious vibration, and the old idea was, a thing without religion must be unlucky, just as in olden times a witch was condemned when she performed acts beyond the understanding of her neighbors.

It has also been called unlucky as it gives a tendency to investigate the unseen or mystical, and this in olden times was considered black magic and ungodly.

It is both a spiritual and material number: It is a number of entertainment, of light talk, fashion and meaningless living, having no great depth or stability.

It may be compared to the pioneer in that it acts as the gateway to great things, but seldom remains to enjoy the fruits of the undertakings: it is said to be unfortunate in its influence, but this depends entirely upon the individual and his understanding.

It is a number of display, pomp and ceremony, dexterity and duality.

It is the social number in the true sense of the word, and is reported to bestow on its holder social and personal allurement and attraction.

NUMBERS FOUR, FIVE AND SIX 9

This number is called by some authorities fickle and changeable, but this is probably due to its being misunderstood, its swiftly moving states of consciousness, mystifying and confusing.

The Character and Influence of Number Six.
— The Number Six is similar to Number Two in several ways, chiefly in that it is also a peace-loving, optimistic, joy-giving, kind and considerate number. It differs in that it is more Universal in scope, in fact it swings a greater orbit than do most numbers.

Its influence is varied, including art, philanthropy and intuition and inspiration. It influences the sixth sense. It bestows confidence, trust and reliance: “united we stand, divided we fall” applies to the Six very closely, as it is weak when unattended, but powerful when in combination.

It is universal in its influence rather than personal.

Its influence in financial matters is doubt-

10 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

ful, but its influence in health and religion is strong.

It is a number of marriage: and one of comprehension and conservatism and repose, solace and comfort.

CHAPTER IV

THE CHARACTER AND INFLUENCE OF NUMBERS SEVEN, EIGHT AND NINE

The Character and Influence of Number

Seven. — Number Seven is a mysterious, dark, obscure, unaccountable number: it is probably called so because its influence is not thoroughly understood. It is a number lacking expression and is highly conservative and retired. It is not the number or influence the most favorable for starting a progressive business or a cherished physical undertaking.

It is a number of self-satisfaction and outward poise and repose.

The root or origin of the Seven vibrations finds its inception probably in old monastery times.

It is a vibration “in the world, but not of the world.”

12 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

Not a number to seek renown or glory, in fact any form of self-expression. Throughout time the Seven influence has been dark, obscure, secret and hidden, always in its glow, dim and enigmatical.

It is the number of the stoic, the religionist and the mystic.

Retirement, seclusion, solitude, privacy and retreat are common words in describing this Seven influence.

It is an important number, leading back, as it does, to the soul, the quiet, poised and unexpressed of man, and demonstrates that state of conscience called self-sufficiency.

The Influence and Characteristic of Number Eight. — The eight is the scientific mental number.

It is the number of business, of material achievement, of self-assertiveness and business success.

It may be classed as a vibration of accomplishment, attainment and acquirement.

NUMBERS SEVEN, EIGHT AND NINE 13

In choosing a name to appear under as a singer, musician, artist, etc., do not accept the Number Eight as a good choice, but if it is intended as a name for business, one may expect help from its powerful material and mental influence.

It spreads an influence of discernment, analysis, technicality: it also gives rather a "self-positive" atmosphere.

Its mission is acquirement, achievement and execution.

It is a high free number: hence, has universal sympathy and understanding.

It is a number of mentality, domination and rule: it tends towards organization and intellectuality, and should create a good influence for the business man, the scientific man and the technical musician.

It is the mighty, powerful, potent vibration of business.

The Character and Influence of Number Nine. — This is a high, broadened, universal influence: it has always been known as the number of love, representing the highest essence of universal and personal love.

As ONE is the beginning and NINE the ending of numbers, so are they as far apart in their influences; the ONE representing individuality and the NINE influence representing Universality and geniality, and standing for uprightness, integrity and virtue: it is a permanent, enduring and steadfast number.

It has an influence for expression, especially in art, and is a helpful influence for the actor, singer, speaker, etc.: in fact along any line of expression, being in this respect similar to the Three.

The developed Nine is inclusive, never petty, small or personal, but, even if undeveloped and petty, "Nines" have much of that trait for which a Nine is known, i.e. universal love, which means love for the low as well as for the high, in fact, sees God in all things and all conditions.

NUMBERS SEVEN, EIGHT AND NINE 15

Nine is considered the father of all the vibrations and the most developed. The name with many nines is well equipped to face the existing circumstance of the daily living out.

CHAPTER V

APPLICATION AND USE OF NUMBERS

THE first lesson to learn after mastering the character and influence of the different numbers is how to reduce them to a common unit, and the next step, how to apply them to names and conditions.

There are only nine numbers, any total above these single numbers being simply a combination or union of numbers.

The number 18 is a combination of 1 and 8 57 is a combination of 5 and 7, hence in applying numbers to names, remember, all compound numbers must be brought to a single unit, as they are not numbers in the sense that the numbers 1 to 9 inclusive are, but rather a union of several numbers.

To illustrate: take the number 67. Reducing it we have: $6 + 7 = 13$; now, as 13 is still a union of 1 and 3 and a compound number, we again add and find that $1 + 3 = 4$: hence, the digit value of 67 is 4 ($6 + 7 = 13$: $1 + 3 = 4$).

Another example, 552 is to be reduced to a single digit as it is composed of three numbers. To find its working value we add $5 + 5 + 2 = 12$: and as 12 is still a union of numbers we add again $1 + 2 = 3$. Hence the single digit of 552 is 3.

($5 + 5 + 2 = 12$: $1 + 2 = 3$.) All numbers or combinations of numbers over 9 in value must be reduced to their single valuation or single digit, and the single digits are from 1 to 9 inclusive.

In applying numbers to names, the letters of the alphabet are given a numerical valuation, that is, each number has its own numerical value.

For convenience' sake the alphabet is divided as follows:

18 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

- 1 — A, J, S.
- 2 — B, K, T.
- 3 — C, L, U.
- 4 — D, M, V.
- 5 — E, N, W.
- 6 — F, O, X.
- 7 — G, P, Y.
- 8 — H, Q, Z.
- 9 — I, R.

These letters are not placed haphazardly opposite their corresponding numbers, but rather do they follow in rotation of valuation as do numbers. For instance, Y is a 7 because it is the 25th letter in the alphabet and the value of 25 is 7, $2 + 5$ making 7. L is a 3 because it is the 12th letter in the alphabet and the single digit of 12 is 3, as $1 + 2 = 3$. To find the single unit of a name place under each letter its number value, then add the single numerical values thus:

USE OF NUMBERS

JOHN APPELL

1685 177533

20 26

2 8

$$2 + 8 = 10 \text{ or } 1 \text{ as } 1 + 0 = 1$$

J is 1

O is 6

H is 8

N is 5

the total 20. Now we reduce 20 thus: $2 + 0 = 2$ and we have the single digit of John as 2.

Appell vibrates to 8 because

A vibrates to 1

P " " 7

P " " 7

E " " 5

L " " 3

sum total 26, or 8, as $2 + 6 = 8$, hence the name Appell vibrates to 8.

20 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

To find the single value of both names we add 2 (which is John's valuation) and 8 (which is Appell's valuation) and we have $2 + 8 = 10$ and 10 is 1 because $1 = 0 + 1$, so the name John Appell vibrates to the number 1.

CHAPTER VI

THE MEANING OF THE BIRTH NUMBER

THE birth number is the number or digit that results when the day, month and year of birth is added, and this number is the record of our past and what we have learned during all our past incarnations, and tells our strength, our latent force, our subjective knowledge and understanding and the power we have behind us for working out the lesson of this incarnation and its various experiences.

Illustration:

Day of birth — December 19, 1884.

Reduced = 7 — which represents the soul's strength.

December = 12th month = $(1 + 2) = 3$

19th day = $(1 + 9 = 10)$ or $(10 - 1 + 0) = 1$

1884 year = $(1 + 8 + 8 + 4 = 21)$ or $(21 - 1 + 2) = \underline{3}$

Complete sum = 7

The digit of the birth number is the soul's average and represents our standing with the masters of the Spheres. It is our examination card, or record, or passport for entrance into earth life and shows what the soul has to its credit and what it has already included before contacting the experiences of this time on earth.

One way to explain this is by using the example of a school. When a student enters, say the 8th grade, he is unacquainted with the requirements of that grade or the lessons he will have to master while there, but he has behind him, to help him master the new grade, all the wisdom and knowledge he has gathered up during his training in the other grades from the 1st to 7th inclusive.

This knowledge or inclusion of the ego is represented in our human working out of life by the birth number.

When a soul comes onto this planet, it comes to take up a new lesson, to learn it and master it, and to add to what it has already included, and this new lesson is told by the distinguishing or destiny number, which is the complete sum of the letters of the name given at birth; but the power behind the life and in the soul, for working out this new lesson, and the force with which it comes forth is told by the birth number.

Astrology tells us by our birth just what we have made in the past, what we have gathered to ourselves, our ability, etc., but just what the individual will do about it and how he will endeavor to work it out has always been uncertain.

In names and numbers the birth numbers tell what we have already made for ourselves, but just what the individual will do in this life or be busy about or the way he will express himself is told by the name or destiny number as explained in another chapter.

We often find people who have the ability to be great geniuses, but all this power is seemingly going to waste while they are giving their time to other things, sometimes willingly but more often required to do so by existing circumstances or external conditions.

This is because the greater power is the development the soul has already made, but is not being used as the individual is busy working along entirely different lines.

The power of the birth number is always behind us even if not active, but often in times of extra human trials and burdens we unconsciously call upon it and it answers, and we find we have ability and strength never before realized.

Also we may be helped or retarded in the working out of our destiny by our birth number, because each number has its own peculiar vibration and expression as given in chapters 2, 3, 4, and all numbers do not work well together.

For example — take a life whose destiny number is that of an eight, which means that it must master and control the financial expression of life.

MEANING OF THE BIRTH NUMBER 25

If the birth number is that of a two with this number 8 destiny — the lesson is apt to be a difficult one as the number two stands for peace and companionship and is a gentle, quiet and retiring number, and the individual learning the lesson of the vibration eight would find that for some reason he often lacked the heart and courage and the command and control that is necessary to contact the financial world.

If the birth number is that of the number one with the destiny number eight, the individual would be strong and determined and unafraid, more easily overcoming and surmounting all difficulties, as number one gives push and the do and dare spirit, and with this power behind representing the soul energy, nothing would stand in his way.

So on with all the numbers according to their meaning.

If the Birth Number is strong and the name or destiny number strong we have a positive character. If the numbers are both receptive in expression the characters are most likely receptive, or if the birth number is strong and the name number receptive we may know that the power that is behind the life will help it get over the difficult places that appear on the path.

26 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

CHAPTER VII

THE NUMBER THAT GOVERNS THE LIFE

THIS is also called the distinguishing or destiny number because its vibration governs the individual more than any other number.

Consciously or unconsciously, this number does direct and affect us.

It is more important to know the destiny number than any other one number because it tells us what lesson we have to learn in this incarnation, and what particular thing is necessary for our soul's further development.

Every life is born onto this planet for some purpose and that purpose is told by the sum of all the letters of the name given us at birth.

It makes no difference if the individual has never used it, or dislikes it, or prefers to be called by some other name. The name given at birth is the one that tells the individual's destiny.

This destiny number is obtained by the addition of all the letters in the full name given at birth, the middle name always included in the sum.

Illustration:

MARY	JANE	FREEMAN
4197	1155	6955415
21	12	35
3	3	8
$(3 + 3 + 8 = 14)$
and $(14 = 1 + 4) = 5$

Mary vibrates to 3, Jane to 3, and Freeman to 8: The sum total of $(3 + 3 + 8 = 14)$ or 5 as $(1 + 4 = 5)$. Therefore the destiny number of this name is the number 5.

This particular lesson or destiny is chosen by the soul before it comes again into physical form, so by knowing what lesson our soul desired to include and then endeavoring to live up to it, we progress much faster towards the accomplishment of it, than if we live blindly with no idea of our mission in life or reason for our existence.

Knowing that we are working out a certain destiny for certain experiences, life becomes wonderful and much happier, because we then understand the trials and seeming difficulties that come into our life as we touch the passing years.

Some souls come into life to learn to express their own individuality, others learn their lessons through service to the race, some through contacting the financial side of life, some through the experience of self-expression, and again others through the experiences of human love learn their lives' greatest lesson.

Sometimes a life rebels against its destiny, finding it too hard or desiring other things, but life is really happier and more beautiful if we try to the best of our ability and understanding to follow the higher or Divine leading instead of the human.

A life whose destiny number is that of the one must learn to express its true individuality, not through dominance and control but must gain power and success through unity and understanding.

A destiny number of a 2 requires one to be at all times the peacemaker or the diplomat. A destiny of a 2 arrived at through the sum of 20 or (2 + 0 = 2) is not a strong number and may be lacking in self-confidence, but a 2 obtained through the 11 or (1 + 1 = 2) is a strong number and usually leads one to service of the race through healing, Spiritual or material.

Number 3 is that of expression, and the mission of a life whose destiny number is a 3 is to bring joy at all times to all people through that radiant power within its life.

NUMBER THAT GOVERNS THE LIFE 31

Not to express joy and activity is failure to fulfil the life's destiny.

A life whose destiny is that of the number 4 learns and gets real soul experience through endeavor and hard work, but this endeavor usually brings in the end financial returns.

Five is the number of adjustment and a life whose destiny number is that of the 5 will find that change and uncertainty seem to be always following it, but the soul learns through nonresistance and harmonious adjustment to all these changes of external things.

Six is the humanitarian number and this number as a destiny number usually requires the individual to give up much in the service and doing for others. Two is a number of service, but 6's are usually held to personal service even to the extent of almost giving up their own individuality. Six often gives musical talent or desire.

Seven as a destiny number is a very hard one. It is also a number of adjustment but it means soul adjustment to the higher laws of life. It is the number of assimilation. Number 5's adjust to external conditions, but 7's must learn to see the occult meaning of all things. This is a number of retirement and reserve, but this should be overcome.

Eight is the business number and the soul learns through the experiences, the trials and the pleasures that come from contact with and mastery of the financial world.

The number 9 stands for universal understanding, tolerance and sympathy. A life whose destiny number is the 9 must learn the lesson that all life is one, and at all times express universal love and compassion. If a number 9 fails it is not easily forgiven as much is expected of it.

NOTE. — As well as giving the lesson of life the name also gives the way a life will desire to express that destiny.

There are many people whose destiny numbers are 1's, 2's, or 3's, etc., but while they are learning the same lesson, they are in no way similar to each other in expression.

The way a life will express its destiny is influenced by the number called the heart's desire and it is this inner feeling that makes the difference in outward expression.

The number called the heart's desire is told by the single digit of the sum of the vowels of the name alone, excluding the consonants, figured according to the standard chart of valuation.

Illustration:

A destiny number of a 4 and a heart's desire of a 1 would give a keen desire for leadership in the financial world.

Destiny number of a 4 with a heart's desire of a 7 would probably make a student or professor or clever mechanic or expression that required endeavor, but not great outward show of activity.

A heart's desire of a 5 with the number 4 destiny would probably give a desire for money for social success; and so on according to the meaning of the numbers.

The destiny number tells the life's lesson, the heart's desire the manner of expression for learning the lesson.

CHAPTER VIII

HOW TO FIND ONE'S PLACE OF POWER

IT is the work of every life to find its true position in the world. Every one has his natural groove, his place of power and attraction for accomplishment and success, and when this place is found and recognized, the current of life is with the individual, helping and assisting it, and the living of life becomes comfortable, easy and successful instead of an existence full of hardships, difficulties and resistance.

There are two great expressions into which life is divided and every individual has his place and finds the lines of least resistance for the life's work in one of these divisions. These two divisions are: First, the artistic and second, the practical or business field of endeavor, and every one is named for activity in either the artistic or business expression of life, and one who finds his place is wise, but the one who drifts into whatever comes his way must pay the price of his carelessness.

There are four planes of being within every individual, each plane having its own characteristics and manner of expression and every soul or individual functions principally from one or two of these planes, or from all, just according to the strength of the name and the arrangement of the numbers of the name.

These planes of being are called physical, mental, emotional, and intuitive. The physical plane gives the characteristics which we call physical; desire for creature comforts, a general practical disposition, and this plane is governed by what is known as instinct. When physical characteristics are many there is usually a tendency for the scientific and not much interest in things idealistic or spiritual.

The mental plane is the reasoning plane and gives fine logic and deduction, analysis, order, arrangement and a desire for proof and facts, and this is the plane that gives real business ability, or power for financial success in the world where reason rules.

The emotional plane is the plane of impulse; here reason is not found and fads and fancies and ideals take its place. When the emotional characteristics occur oftener than those of the other planes we have an individual who is governed by his imagination and his feelings and who can give no reason for his actions, and because of this power for deep feeling and the imagination this plane is called the artistic plane and as a rule gives ability or expression in some artistic direction.

The intuitive plane is the plane of direct inspiration, and gives ability to know and understand without proof or reason or even feeling because something deep within it guides it at all times, and this guiding power is intuition, and when a name shows many intuitive numbers we know at once that the intuition can be trusted. This is the religious plane and gives high spirituality.

The numbers according to this division are as follows:

The Physical numbers are — 4 and 5

The Mental " " 1 " 8

The Emotional " " 2 " 3 and 6

The Intuitive " " 7 " 9

If a name has more physical and mental numbers we know at once that the plane of power for that life is in what is called the business world as mercantile men, big business concerns, where buying and selling, figuring and scheming is important, promoters, etc., and in a smaller way, stenographers, clerks, small store keepers, etc.

If the emotional and intuitive numbers predominate, then the place for greatest success, both for money and happiness, is in the purely artistic world, as musicians, actors, artists, sculptors, etc.

HOW TO FIND ONE'S PLACE OF POWER 39

If there are more mental numbers and many artistic or emotional numbers, with only a few physical and intuitive numbers, the place of power for this life is in the specialized business world as surgeons, dentists, lawyers, traveling salesmen or in any way that reason rules, yet allows some play to the emotion and imagination.

If there are more emotional numbers but many mental numbers the place of power is in the artistic business world as general practitioners, healers, etc., also painters, decorators, gardeners, writers of musical comedy, as vaudeville artists, writers of advertisements, or in any line that makes the emotions the power, backed by good power of law and order, arrangement and analysis.

If the physical and intuitive characteristics are strongest we find lives who think and act a little out of the ordinary, but are usually strong individuals. Sometimes they are great evangelists, sometimes great humanitarians, lecturers, teachers along original lines, and these people usually have a great ability to influence others.

When the four planes of being are very well developed this gives a well rounded, well developed life and one that can contact life at any point or place and command a good measure of success.

Here we have an artistic business woman, whose place of power is in the business world but not that of analysis and fact, but in a place where there would be a chance for expression of her imagination and feeling, and as her destiny number is that of the Six, which is the humanitarian and musical number, she would probably find her greatest happiness and success through nursing or as a matron or director in hospital or charity organization, or as teacher of music along lines of technic, or as milliner, or in a way that gave service to others but still required a good head, good judgment, and also a kind heart.

NOTE. — When the lines of least resistance are found by the name, the destiny number must always be taken into consideration when choosing the occupation.

CHAPTER IX

THE IMPORTANCE OF VARYING THE SIGNATURE

ALL events of this world, all happenings, circumstances and undertakings have their separate, individual vibrations, and when we, as individuals, come in contact with these congregated vibrations, there is produced an amiable or adverse relationship.

“Atmospheres” are, as we know, mental oscillations or vibrations. They are originally produced by man’s mental attitude but eventually become so strong as to be individualized, and finally become so powerful as to be no longer affected by outside influences.

A church has a peculiar atmosphere or vibration which is said to be “characteristic of Churches.” Hence, we may say there is a “church vibration.” This church vibration becomes impotent to individual attack, as is illustrated when we see some unbelieving and supposedly unbending and obstinate person instinctively, on entering the doors, lower his voice and raise his headgear in unconscious acknowledgment of something more powerful than his skepticism. So it is with many, and many a vibration which we unconsciously pit ourselves against, and which, as a result, submerges us, simply because we are out of harmony with it. The dancing hall, the stage, the theater, the business house, the professional rooms, the hospitals, and countless others too numerous to mention, all have their own characteristic and individualized vibrations.

We will receive more harmony, peace and power from these vibrations or atmospheres, regardless of what they represent, by working in union with them, than we will by being antagonistic, even subconsciously antagonistic. While formerly we did not recognize it, we are subconsciously hostile when we carry a name that is not suitable to the vibration of the place which we enter.

Man should be more elastic, not so unbending and non-appreciative of the more subtle laws of life. He should learn adjustment and cease forcing the vibrations where they are unsuitable and many times repugnant.

To assist in attaining this object of universal adjustment, one should have and use several signatures, that is a business signature, agreeable and suitable to his particular business, so contributing toward and not detracting from its and his ultimate success. If an orator, then, speak under a name that is harmonious and pleasing to the currents or vibrations of oratory.

Let us co-operate with and adjust ourselves to that particular vibration under whose banner we wish to succeed. If it be in oratory, then let us carry an oratorical name vibration and not one of the hermit or close-mouthed recluse. If we desire musical success, let us endeavor to be amiable to the musical currents and not antagonistic.

So it is with every conceivable thing in life, in the arts, in politics, in the professions, in business, etc. If we are working in several branches, let us not strike one certain, unbending attitude and persistently carry it through all the different branches from which we may be trying to wring success. We will attain much more by harmonizing and co-operating than through resistance and condemnation. One good way to put one's self in harmonious union with any vibration is to sign the name with the letters whose numbers are in accord with the vibration and so not withdrawing or detracting from the general vibration. In other words, and to put it very tense and concise: have a signature to meet all occasions.

I know an adjustable individual who is fundamentally a professional man. He dabbles in business and, on occasions, writes and lectures. For all these different vocations he has and uses a different name, never using his business signature at the head of his written articles, nor does he sign his professional name on his books. His several signatures are used for his several undertakings. He varies the sound, not his name, only adding or dropping one name of his several, or using an initial in place of a name—all done to keep his name and the thing he is doing harmonious to each other.

Number 8 is a good business vibration, but a name vibrating to 8 can hardly be called a suitable one for music, oratory or acting. There are some successful musicians and orators whose names vibrate to 8, but they are more along the type of mental musicians and mental orators and scientists.

3 is a successful vibration for singing, dancing, speaking, acting, entertaining, friendship, etc.

1 is a signature to be used by explorers, heads of enterprises, directors, planners, etc.

2 is a name for mothers, doctors, dentists, diplomats, arbitrators and all of the less powerful and strenuous occupations.

4 is the number to adjust one's name to for work for a political career among "the people," for country life, nature study, exploring, hunting, study, tradesmen, canvassers, etc.

6, for philanthropists, matrons, nurses, etc.

7, The religionists, inventor, the stoic and mystic.

9, Signature of the broad-minded, broadened, universal love man. The big composer, tragedian, minister and general.

A simple change of spelling alters the name in value. History tells us of many instances of how changes of name affected individual lives and circumstances.

CHAPTER X

HOW THE NAME DISCLOSES THE FUTURE

THERE was formerly a common or frequent saying that man changes every cell in his entire body every 7 years. Later, this period was reduced by some to 30 days. Their idea put concisely is that not a cell exists in the body but what passes away and a new one takes its place; this process continues unceasingly, the old cells being incessantly displaced by new ones.

As we change our cells, so do we change our vibrations, and experience has demonstrated that the life of a vibration in the human is, roughly speaking, one year, or the length of time it takes the earth revolving on its axis to pass under the rays of the sun.

NAME DISCLOSES THE FUTURE 49

One year, a completion of the seasons, is a complete vibration in our life.

What next year has in store for us, what we are in at present and the vibrations we have passed through are all in the name.

The first letter in the name is the first vibration in the life, the second letter denotes the character of the second year. The third letter in the name tells, generally speaking, what is in store for one the third year, and so on: each letter is a vibration and each vibration a year in length.

Take the following name, for example, of how the name tells the past and present and discloses the future:

Randolph John Williams, age 30 years

50 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

R is the first letter in his name: A is the second letter: N is the third letter: D is the fourth letter, and so on up to 30, his present age. This we see comes under 0 or 6, so this, his 30th year, is in the 6th vibration.

We say, he being in the 6th vibrating year, his yearly outlook will assume the character of the 6th vibration. He will find this year of his life not so strenuous as were some years of the past (6 is not a strenuous number).

His path this year will carry him into broader and less strenuous and turbulent places. Humanity will give him a higher place in its regard and will look to him as a worthy individual. In this 30th year of his life, he will instinctively cater more to the peaceful, quiet, tranquil side of life as 6 is a number of Peace, quiet and repose.

This, to him, will be a year of more mind rest, more tranquillity and less worries, as 6 is an optimistic, restful number.

It is, all told, a restful, philanthropic, beneficial year and coming, as it does, between the 1, (a rather pushing, active, forceful year) and 8 (a thinking, critical, analytical year), it should be of great benefit.

In this, his 30th year, more credence and reliance will be proffered him and the vibrations of blame and reproach and censure will not come his way as frequently as they have in certain other years of his life. This year will be similar, generally speaking, to his 10th year, both coming under this same vibration.

His next year will be under the 8th vibration, it being the 31st letter in his name, and he will be at that time 31 years of age.

This means somewhat of a change in his life, especially a change from his 30th year, as 6 is a different vibration in most ways from an 8.

52 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

His 31st year will be much more active and probably more materially remunerative, as 8 stands for worldly possessions and business success.

He should make strides in his own advancement in his 31st year, as 8 is a big universal free number and bestows an influence of power and enterprise. It is a broad vibration, is this 8, and people while under its influence should expand their talents in every direction, normal and natural to them. It is advisable for his own welfare that he achieve as much as possible in his 31st year, as the following two years, or his 32d and 33d, will be under the influence of the 5 and this, as we know, means change, indecision, pleasures, etc., and lack of stability generally.

His 34th year has many strong indications as told by the 9, but it remains for the next two years following this, which are his 35th and 36th years, to bring out his true expression. This bringing out of his real expression is due to the fact that his 35th and 36th years will be under the influence of the 3, which is a number of expression and accomplishment.

In the case of a married woman wishing to ascertain what vibration she is working under, she gives to each letter a year as in the case of the unmarried woman, and the man, but she uses her own given and Christian names, and not her married name.

Thus, Mrs. Henry Smith is 25 and wishes to know the general trend of her next or 26th year: she takes her maiden name of Jane Elizabeth Brown and gives to each letter a year:

		J A N E E L I Z A B E T H B R O W N
num- bers	{	1 1 5 5 5 3 9 8 1 2 5 2 8 2 9 6 5 5
years	{	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18
		19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36

54 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

First put the value of the letter of the name directly beneath, then proceed to give each letter the value of one year, and we can see at a glance the general trend of the life, both of the past and present as well as the future.

Her 37th year will be similar to her 19th year in that they both are under the vibration of one. They will not, of course, be exactly alike, because the years or vibration of time she has lived between 19 and 37 have brought their lessons, but the general trend will be similar.

The mode of procedure in any and all names is similar. First find the number in the name, corresponding to the year in life; then look up the influences of the number (this can be done in a preceding chapter), and we have the general forecast for that year.

To those desirous of looking deeper, that is, seeking a more definite in place of so general a forecast, we may divide each year as does nature its seasons. The sun, as we all know, moves — and becomes more and more powerful in its influence until a climax is reached, when it naturally retracts or declines in power and gradually sinks back to the beginning point. Man may divide each of the letters in his name into seasons, as does Nature, and have Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter of each letter.

1st Part of each letter, or number, Spring.

Spring represents childhood, the plant pushing through the soil. The Summer or second division of each letter's influence represents Youth, the flower blossoming: lightness and gaiety. Autumn, Manhood, the reaping, the passing of the leaf. Winter, Age, the seed, a Mantle.

Interpreted, this means that the first part, or spring, of the vibration or number, an individual entering, is but the childhood or bud of that number. The second part is the blossoming of the number; the third, the reaping of its influence, and the fourth part of the year, the decline of its influence.

If a person is entering, say, for instance, a 2, the full influence is not immediately felt, he is simply in the spring, childhood or bud division of the 2 vibration; conditions are, as yet, new and strange. This lasts, roughly, for three months, one fourth of a year.

In the second quarter, or summer of this vibration, the influence naturally adjusts itself tighter around the individual: this marks a second period and lasts until the end of the sixth month—when the Autumn, manhood or reaping period comes to its own. Here we find the person well within the influence of the 2. In fact, at the climax or extreme end of its highest power from here, it gradually declines in influence.

The last 3 months of the year, or the winter, are marked by the decline of the 2. This is the winter, or age period. So, in entering an influence, one does not feel its full force or power during the first part, neither does the child realize, in its childhood state, its possibilities.

Again, on leaving the latter part of its run, the influence of any number is not greatly felt, due to its influence waning and declining.

In a child's name, we must bear in mind the fact of its dependency upon its parents; as a result, the number influence will not be so manifest as in those more advanced in years, and more subject to their own judgments.

CHAPTER XI

CHOOSING A SUITABLE NAME FOR A CHILD

THIS represents, as all parents and near relations will recall, a period of deep reflection, studied contemplation, and general all-round indecision to all parties concerned.

The choosing of the name is of much more vital importance than even the irresolute parents realize. They worry over a selection of names, but even were you to ask them really why they worried, they probably could not give a serious answer, but they somehow subconsciously feel there is an importance, even though unapparent, that is attached to the ceremony.

This indecision of choice, worry and vagueness is caused wholly by ignorance. The time is not far distant when we will proceed to the choosing of a name as we proceed to the solving of any problem. Not from guesswork, or from an unlearned, unlettered standpoint, but rather from an intellectual comprehension of the circumstances involved.

No longer then will we name the first-born Willie because his financially successful uncle abroad goes by the name of William. Neither will we name a child after his father, simply for the reason the father thinks it such a manly name and one so perfectly suited for his manly little infant. "Shotgun" prescriptions of medicines are fast fading from scientific favor, since the advent of the specialist, and this new era has brought greater understanding. The old family doctor, when in doubt about a diagnosis, chose his drugs generously and almost promiscuously, hoping that some of the many drugs chosen might reach the ailing part of his unsuspecting patient. Names have formerly been, are even today, chosen by the uninitiated in this promiscuous fashion; they close their eyes and choose blindly, only hoping their choice turns out suitably for the worthy offspring.

The Christian name should be our working key for a successful choosing of the given names. This Christian name is, of course, constant and remains mostly unchangeable. While the given names may be variable in spelling and adjustment, the last or Christian name should be perpetually constant to its first construction of letters, never moving from its first designed style, sound and arrangement of letters. This rule, to allow the last name to remain constant and undeviating in construction, is not due to a present-day caprice or whim, but to a deep metaphysical and mystical law.

The key of fundamental basis from which to choose and adjust all names to be chosen, is the last or Christian name. With this name as a given asset, we have only to bear the following rules in mind: 1st, The names to be chosen should harmonize with the last or Christian name. That is, if the last name vibrates to 7, do not choose a name vibrating 3 (see numbers on preceding page that harmonize).

2d. The number or amount of letters in each name to be chosen, that is the new names, should be in harmony with the sum total of letters in the last names. As, for instance: If the last name is Smith, which is a word of five letters, do not choose a name like Rolland which has 7 letters, as 5 and 7 do not harmonize and there is no advantage to be gained by uniting or hinging these unfriendly vibrations even in this small way. Rather choose a name containing 3 letters, because 3 and 5 are amiable.

The Law of Inheritance, when choosing the infant's name, must be also taken into careful consideration. The several natural predominating qualities of the family should be analyzed and reviewed. The old saying that a professional or mechanical man is “born and not made” holds much truth. While this old saw is not “all truth,” yet the unbiased observer cannot deny that it is a great part of truth. The general outcome of the artistic parent is the artistic child, and the progeny of the mechanical parent usually has a mechanical turn.

When the parents come under the law of opposites, that is one being scientific and the other, for instance, artistic, and doubt exists as to which way the child will turn, a careful watching will show before long the direction in which he naturally inclines. Or, following another law, we may assume the child will take on mostly the characteristics of the stronger parent. Again, we may assume that the male child will “take after” his father, in the main, and the female child after the mother.

When we are satisfied that the child has a “bent” towards mechanics, then give him a mechanical name — a mechanical name means any name relating to the numbers 4 or 8. Certain other numbers are, of course, of a slight mechanical turn, but 4 or 8 are the leaders in this department. When the family generally is artistic, then they are safe in bestowing on the child an artistic name; that is, any name vibrating to 3 or 6 or 9, likewise containing the same numbers of letters in the name. Where the one name vibrates to 6, let the other contain 3, 6 or 9 letters as well as the same vibration. When the name vibrates 9 let it contain 3, 6 or 9 letters and so on.

When the child is destined for leading large organizations, for inventing and planning, names vibrating to one will contribute to his or her success.

When oratory, acting, painting, a name vibrating to 3 (9 is also good, as is 6 in a lesser degree) is acceptable.

Following are several occupations and numbers which harmonize and co-operate. When the child is destined to follow a certain line, let the name number be in unison with the position.

For diplomacy, ministry, private secretaryship, certain branches of medicine, dentistry, etc., a 2 name is best.

Acting, singing, oratory, entertaining, a 3 name. Foreman, mental and physical pursuits a 4 name. Occupations that call for adaptability, fascination and versatility co-operate agreeably with the 5 name.

National philanthropists, politicians, artistic workers and organizers work best with a 6 name.

The mystic, recluse, abstract thinker, and inventor further their aim with a 7 name.

For technique, science, analysis, certain types of business choose the 8 name.

The 9 vibration is somewhat similar to the 3, and is very beneficial for musical names; actors and orators, also, come harmoniously into its scope or vibration.

CHAPTER XII

NAMES SUITABLE FOR MARRIAGE

DESPITE the fact of the prolific abundance of opinions and advice written on this much discussed subject, the individuals contemplating entering what the newspapers call "marital bliss," generally do so regardless of whether they are, according to some "sage's" system, in "perfect accord" or "perfect soul unison."

The law of happy unions is based upon the law of similars.

The fundamental bases of the individuals, if happiness is to be the result, must be similar.

The old idea of harmonious unions was, as we can all recall, based upon the law of opposites. Many did, and do today, take to themselves their direct opposite, opposite in word, thought, action and deed; many marry opposites because they are attracted by certain qualities in the other which they themselves do not possess.

The powerful, physical man is many times enslaved by his direct opposite in the form of some physically frail, dainty woman. The frail creature was attracted to him by his physical magnetism, force and power of body. This physical force of her husband, for a time, fascinates her; she relies on his physical energy, force and power, and feels a safety and comfort, hitherto foreign to her. Later, through closer association, her eyes are gradually opened to other qualities, heretofore unrecognized in her physical Apollo. Qualities were discovered upon which she had never counted, and eventually he became repulsive to her more sensitive and developed vision.

Her "Apollo" man was purely physical, demanding, as all earthly body men do, earthly creature comforts, such as much food, when and how they like it. Food and creature comforts are the height of his attainment. His soul lies dormant; a restaurant window filled with foods is to him a masterpiece, and a real fact. She, more advanced, with her finer perception at first marveled at his queer ways and odd customs, the body having always been second in her eyes. Food had never been a passion. The restaurant window, filled in tempting style with fish, vegetables, fowl and great cuts of beef, is one of the physical man's heavens and attracts him just as a masterpiece on canvas does his more artistic brother. Philosophy bores him, and deep, soul-stirring music and oratory have no effect on his unawakened esoteric self or soul.

She uses food only as a power generator, takes it because Nature decrees it so; to her, it serves only as a means to an end. To her

68 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

“Apollo” it means the end, and all other things.

She finally tires of his “carcass worship” and he becomes bored with what he calls her “silly emotions,” her love of the finer in Nature, of “God in the Woods,” of music, painting and soul-stirring oratory; to him, it is too intangible, too meaningless, and to her sensitive soul, his “beefsteak” and “physical feats” become too tangible, and, as a natural result, the inevitable happens.

The peaceful, non-resisting, non-striving lives are those who have renounced forever the Law of Opposites. They see at last with comprehensive vision, after centuries of needless misery, and they forthwith move from under the old Law of Opposites which has caused so much misery and anguish, and slip into union with the higher Law of Unity, where tolerance, sympathy, understanding, appreciation, take the place of intolerance, misunderstanding, reproach and reprehension.

In choosing marriageable, harmonious names, let us, bearing in mind the Law of Similars, use names that are similar. Similar in strength and vibration, thus avoiding all extremes and opposites. Civilization has advanced to that place in evolution where souls are really desirous of equality; they desire and demand to advance mentally and morally as equals; to face the world side by side as coworkers, and forget the motto of the dark ages, of "Might is Right."

The more similarity of vibrations or letters existing in marriageable names, the better is the opportunity or chance for a continued amiable union. The dark spots that so often cloud temporarily the horizon of marital happiness will, upon examination, be found as coming from those vibrations in the names working under the law of opposites.

As an example to illustrate this law of harmonious and discordant factors in a name, let us take the names of two individuals contemplating marriage, and weigh their general prospects for happiness by a letter to letter comparison of their several names.

James Ralph Homes we will use as illustrating the man's name, the woman's being Annie Laura Peake.

The number of letters in the man's name, James Ralph Homes, is 15; the woman's name, Annie Laura Peake, also has 15 letters. The number of letters in the names of the parties concerned is of importance; it does not necessarily follow that the number of letters in the man's and woman's names must be exact in number for harmony, but it is well to have them as near in number as possible.

J A M E S R A L P H H O M E S

1 1 4 5 1 9 1 3 7 8 8 6 4 5 1

The different numbers contained in this name and the times they occur we will illustrate below. The larger numbers are those found in the name, the smaller numbers placed directly above the name numbers denotes the number of times of their occurrence in the name and the dash shows what numbers are missing.

5	()	1	7	7	1	1	2	1
—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

The number 2 is the only one missing in his name.

Let us now treat the woman's name in the same manner:

A N N I E L A U R A P E A K E
1	5	5	9	5	3	1	3	9
—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
4	1	2	()	5	()	1	()	2
—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—	—
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

The numbers missing in the woman's name are the 4, the 6 and the 8.

Let us now compare these two names for a harmonious union, bearing in mind that the Law of Similars makes for true peace and happiness.

Each letter in his name that is also in her name contributes toward their soul union, and by the same law, each letter in either name not contained in the other name acts as a subconscious bearer, hindering and blocking their blissful marriage state.

When both names contain a number, but one name has it in excess of the other, we cannot call it harmonious vibration; for instance, one name has, let us say, six threes, and the other name contains only three threes; this we cannot call harmony. This will be explained more fully in analyzing the names now under consideration.

The number	1	five times	four times	Harmony
" "	2	absent	once	Inharmony
" "	3	once	twice	Harmony
" "	4	twice	absent	Inharmony
" "	5	twice	five times	Inharmony
" "	6	once	absent	Inharmony
" "	7	once	once	Harmony
" "	8	twice	absent	Inharmony
" "	9	once	twice	Harmony

Comparing the numbers that are in harmony with the numbers in which they are unsimilar or out of harmony, we cannot call these two names suitable for harmonious co-operation. Under the figure one, they are harmonious because they both have this vibration occurring numerous times in their names. Numbers are harmonious in a name where the number occurs several times in each name and where one name possesses it only once more than does the other name.

While there can, of course, be no arbitrary rule, it is fairly safe to say, the harmonious numbers in the name are those appearing a like number of times, or within once of a like number of times.

In our example names above, they are inharmonious on the number 2, because, while she only possesses it once, he owns it not at all.

On the three, both names are harmonious because they both include it.

74 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

On the four they are inharmonious because he has it twice, and she not at all.

On the five they are inharmonious because while they both possess this number, she does so too often to be harmonious with him, she having the 5 occur five times, and in his name it only occurs twice. A man with 5 years' experience in a profession can scarcely, as a rule, be called equal to the one possessing only two years' experience.

In the sixth vibration they are inharmonious, as while he only possesses one six in his name, she possesses none.

On the seventh vibration they are harmonious, both possessing one seven.

On the 8 they are inharmonious as he has it twice and she not at all.

On the 9 they are harmonious, both possessing it in their several names an equal number of times.

Of the nine letters, or nine different points

NAMES SUITABLE FOR MARRIAGE 75

of understanding on which to be harmonious, they are only so four times. Only Four out of Nine, less than half. The inharmony outweighs the harmony, as the former has 5 out of a possible 9.

CHAPTER XIII

HOW EACH SINGLE NAME AFFECTS THE LIFE

THE several single names have a direct influence on the life. The different names of an individual as daily used may agree in and be very harmonious, or they may be antagonistic in vibrations one to the other, and, as a result, cause inharmony and subconscious turmoil — turmoil which is recognized as existing, but which, up to now, it has been impossible to locate. It is well known that certain numbers are harmonious one to another, while others are antagonistic. As this is true of numbers, so it is with their corresponding names.

One may be using continually names that entirely disagree one with the other, and so unconsciously, add another link to that already large chain of inharmony that exists in all lives and which everyone is continually and perpetually endeavoring to eradicate.

The name George is the direct opposite to Walter, and this makes them, according to the modern law of opposites, discordant or out of harmony, the natural result being that the bearer of such a name carries continually with him a warring, discordant factor, and no matter how strong, potent and harmonious his distinguishing number may be, he is certain to feel the influence of this perpetual discordance of the single names.

It is important, in choosing a successful name for a child, or for the stage, or nom de plume, to keep the several single names harmonious and to also choose for a powerful whole. A destiny number derived from discordant single names is not an entirely happy combination, neither is it wise to choose a combination of strong names if their union makes a weak destiny number.

A strong name, that is a strong Destiny number, composed of inharmonious single names, is like a family divided against itself. While it may eventually be successful, yet the process of attainment is difficult and disagreeable.

A strong destiny number obtained through weak names will not manifest the same qualities as a strong destiny number which is composed of strong single names. Many people are "near geniuses," they are continually on the brink of great things, they almost attain to fame and opulence in their chosen line: yet, despite their apparent worthiness, there is always a "something" that intervenes and just keeps the object, success, forever out of their eager grasp. It is, "Oh, so near!" and yet, always, "so far."

An individual of this "near genius" class of persons may appear to have a strong name, but, on closer analysis, the "fly in the ointment" is usually found in some name with a weak vibration and which is just powerful enough to keep the other names from exerting their real influence.

Take, as example, a man having as Christian names: George (3) Vernon (7): George vibrates to 3 thus: GEORGE, and VERNON vibrates to 7 thus: VERNON.

756975

459565

The influence of the Number 7 stands for aloofness and repression, and the 3 stands for geniality and expression: hence, the laws of opposites are personified and one force is continually pulling against the other.

The law of opposites in individuals was formerly held to be the law of happiness, the idea being, one person supplied in general make-up, both physically and mentally, what the other person lacked. Despite the longevity of this opinion, observation has most thoroughly exploded that old theory; the philosophical observers contending that while this law of opposites for happiness may hold true for a limited period, yet in time, lack of understanding, together with certain qualities possessed by one life, is bound to pall and grate upon the other.

This idea of unhappiness in opposites holds doubly true in the sensitive, developed individual, and where we find existing cross vibration, do we also find greater qualities for inharmony.

To this law there are several noted exceptions, and the old saying: "It's the exception that proves the rule," holds true in several instances of opposite number vibrations. Principally is this true of the Number 1 and Number 2 influence. While they are directly opposite in their natural tendencies, yet, also, is their combined influence beneficial in a name. This is accountable principally to the soothing, pacifying, modifying influence of the 2. A typical one's characteristics for "oneness," for brisk-ness and masculine mastery is quieted by the gentle subtlety and quiet persuasive powers of the 2.

Hence a name Mae which vibrates 1, (M is 4, A is 1, E is 5, $4 + 1 + 5 = 10$: or $1 + 0 = 1$) would be benefited by joining with the name Ivy, which vibrates 2: (I is 9, V is 4, Y is 7: $9 + 4 + 7 = 20$ or 2).

The name Ernest (vibrating 9) is not particularly antagonistic to any number, but obtains better opportunity for its natural expression with a notably congenial number — 3, 6 or 2.

The separate single names of the complete or whole name make for harmony or discord or agreeing or disagreeing with the Destiny Number (i.e. the sum total of all the letters in the original name) and also with each other.

Usually, some of the single names of the whole name are harmonious with other single names in the complete name, while again, a complete name may contain single names which are out of harmony one with another, and so make for discord in the entire name.

Elimination is one remedy for this name discordance. As an instance, take a complete name composed of three single names, only two of which agree, and for effective redress cease to use the odd or disagreeing name. This is a very forceful remedy as it cuts the discordant current at its source or fountainhead.

JAMES HENRY RAE

In this name the inharmony exists between James (3) and Henry (7): numbers 3 and 7 do not harmonize as described in previous pages. One number is oil and the other water; as a result, there is naturally no mixing or blending. If the bearer of this name is what we call a "success," it is so in spite of circumstances, situation or condition.

To harmonize the above name the best way is to cease signing the name Henry, using only the names James and Rae: the first name James being a 3 and the later Rae being a 6, both these numbers are in harmonious relationship.

The following collection of names are in harmony, their number vibration following each name: George (3), Belle (9), Ernest (9), May (3), Charles (3), Tom (3), Alice (3), Anna (3), Trude (5), Percival (6), Fred (6), Phebe (9), Juno (6), Park (6), Cecil (5), Ethel (5), Robert (6), Frances (3), Benjamin (6), Nellie (3), Emma (5).

The following names are in harmonious vibration: Joseph (1), Julia (8), Ray (8), Hugh (8), Eric (8), Mae (1), Cora (1), Roland (1), Hermann (1), Clifford (1), Edward (1), Alfred (1), Beta (1), Peter (1).

The following names work together harmoniously: Henry (7), John (2), Ivy (2), Belle (9), Vernon (7), Ernest (9), William (7), Mark (7), Annie (7), Lilly (7), Eva (1), Ralph (1), Phebe (9), Andrew (2), Orin (2), Philip (7), Douglas (7), Walter (7), Eleanor (7), Margaret (2).

84 NAMES, DATES, AND NUMBERS

Following are examples of names working under the law of inharmony, one name being an obstruction and hindrance to the other, as they attract universal cross currents:

EXAMPLE I. — Names vibrating to Number 3 and Names vibrating to Number 7:

A few names under the 3 vibration: Alice, George, Charles, Frances, Nellie.

Some under the 7 vibration: Henry, Annie, Lilly, Philip, Walter, Eleanor.

There are many other affinities and near affinities in the Number 3 names, but by simply giving the more striking example, the reader will, of course, after careful study of the subject, undoubtedly find many other examples of name disagreement.

Our continual aim should always be to use names which are suitable or acceptable one to the other. Having several names, use only those that co-operate and work together in unison. Also endeavor, as far as possible, to strengthen our possibilities and inherent powers by keeping the single names in unison with the Destiny number.

One name whose vibrations are not suitable or amiable to an otherwise strong name, may prove to be a proverbial "fly in the ointment." It is often said that even the strongest of men have in their make-up little traits which keep them from reaching the higher goals of success. We invariably find in these men, after careful analysis, some name or initial that explains the "ball and chain" under which this man is laboring.

EXAMPLE II. — Names vibrating to Number 1 are inharmonious with names vibrating to Number 6:

Names vibrating to Number 1: Mae, Cora, Roland, Hermann, Clifford, Edward:

Names vibrating to Number 6: Fred, Juno, Percival, Park, Benjamin.

NOTE: It will be noticed that, in coupling, names of the 6 and 1 vibration, that most of the inharmony comes from the 1. This is due to the fact that 6 is a tolerant, universal vibration.

EXAMPLE III. — Names vibrating to
